

Data de-duplication

Why data quality matters?

Data De-duplication is imperative for reliable, integrated and accurate data. Improving data quality assists in reducing operating costs and increasing revenue and profitability, as well as enhancing customer service, increasing productivity and improving brand image.

When making decisions designed to enhance your competitive performance, you depend on the integrity of your data; but how accurate is it really – can you trust your data? A study of more than 600 organizations carried out by Gartner reveals that deficient data quality leads to poor user adoption of major applications and a general lack of trust in a company's data.

Some businesses seem content to turn a blind eye to inadequate data, but things change when there's an external regulator to satisfy – regulatory compliance is cited as the prime driver for improving data quality.

Three of your best customers would like a word with you

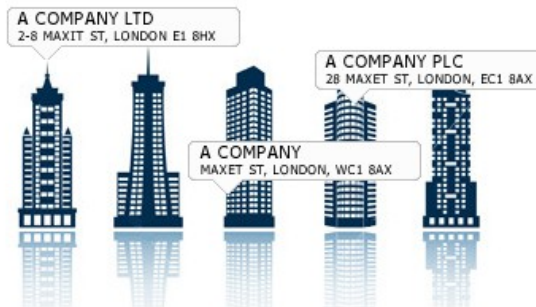

To help companies reduce the number of duplicates within their databases Blue Tahiti Software have developed an online de-duplication tool that enables companies to select either a single or multiple files for de-dupe. As with all Blue Tahiti products data de-dupe is designed to be simple and easy to use.

After uploading a single or a multiple number of files users can select the type of de-duplication they wish to perform (Company Level, Contact Level or Address Level). Within a matter of minutes data de-dupe will provide you with a file which contains all your data and duplicate identification keys.
